Press release

Amsterdam Airport Schiphol, 12 November 2010

On 12 November, Schiphol Real Estate was presented with the award for the most innovative approach to a logistics business park in Italy for its Avioport Logistics Park real estate project. The annual award is presented by Assologistica Italia, the country's premier sector association for the logistics industry. Avioport Logistics Park is situated adjacent to Milan's international Malpensa Airport. It covers an area of 10 hectares with four industrial buildings (totalling approx. 52,000 m²) and three office buildings (approx. 15,000 m²). Schiphol Real Estate is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Schiphol Group.

'We are very happy with this award for the business park,' says André van den Berg, director of Schiphol Real Estate. 'Avioport Logistics Park is a facility modelled and developed in accordance with Schiphol Group's AirportCity formula. It comprises a high-quality business estate with industrial and office buildings aimed at aviation-related companies in the logistics and distribution sector. This is the first business estate for logistics services in the Malpensa area.'

Schiphol Real Estate owes the award to its integrated area development approach for Avioport and its clear focus on real estate, facilities and services. The business park is characterised by a spacious design with lots of green public spaces. It boasts a variety of amenities and services including a bar, a restaurant, conference rooms, park management, security, customs facilities and a shuttle service to and from the airport. Companies with offices at Avioport include Fedex, DHL, Agusta Westland, Cargotalia, SASCO and a range of other air cargo-related businesses.

Avioport Logistics Park

Schiphol Real Estate and a local Italian partner (Finair) launched the development of Avioport Logistics Park near Milan Malpensa Airport in 2003. In mid-2010 construction work began for the fourth (and last) industrial building, which will have a floor area of approx. 13,000 m² and feature an underground car park with 200 parking spaces. Both the building and the car park are scheduled for completion in late 2011. This will also mark the completion of the area development project at Avioport Logistics Park.
